

Homework is a common part of school ~~life~~ life & is given to help students practice what they learn.

However many students receive large amounts of homework which can cause stress & leave little time for rest, hobbies.

School should reduce unnecessary homework and focus on quality rather quantity. Short and meaningful assignments can help students learn effectively.

In conclusion, reducing excessive homework can improve students well ~~being~~ being while supporting their academic growth.